Paycards ^[1]

CU has permanently swapped paper payroll checks for paycards, giving you an easier, greener and more secure means of getting paid.

This means you will either receive your pay by direct deposit or, if you do not enroll in that option, via a paycard.

The university has teamed with security services provider Brinks to issue CU employees Brink's Money cards, alternatives to paper paychecks and traditionally managed direct deposit accounts. If you have not enrolled in CU's direct deposit program, your pay will be processed via paycard. Each pay period, your pay will be loaded onto your paycard at 7 a.m. MDT. From here, you can withdraw money at a bank or ATM or transfer it to another account.

Rather enroll in direct deposit? Simply log in to the employee portal

1. Find the "Direct Deposit" button within the "Payroll and Compensation" dropdown menu on the left.
2. You'll be prompted to verify your identity via our new security feature, which ensures your direct deposit bank account information is safe.

Why paycards?

Paycards are safer than paper checks.

They allow you to place your money in an FDIC-secured bank without participating in traditional banking. You can immediately report a lost or stolen card to Brinks to ensure it is canceled, your money is safe and you receive a new card.

Paycards will be CU's default pay option.

If you fail to sign up for direct deposit ^[3], you will be mailed a paycard. Note: If you are currently signed up for direct deposit, you will continue to get your pay via direct deposit.

A Colorado statute requires all state employers to pay its employees by direct deposit.

Switching to paycards will allow CU to comply with regulations while bestowing a variety of benefits to its workforce. The change will save CU more than $50,000 each year on printing and mailing paper checks.

How paycards work

Paycards present a fast, easy and more secure method to get paid.

1. If you're a new employee who does not set up an account for direct deposit before payroll is processed (one week before payday for biweekly-paid employees and two weeks before payday for monthly-paid employees), you will be mailed a paycard and a paycard packet. Two important points:

Be on the lookout for this packet in your mailbox! This package will contain your card, the only means of accessing your earnings. Look for a thick envelope bearing the CU logo.

Check your mailing address information in the portal to make sure it's correct. If it's not, we won't be able to deliver your paycard packet or your new pay method to you.

2. You must call the number on the front of the card to activate it, at which point you may begin using it for normal banking transactions. Follow the instructions on your card to set your PIN at least 24 hours before your first deposit.
3. The first card you receive is a temporary card. It can be used to make signature-based purchases in restaurants, stores, online and by phone anywhere Debit MasterCard is accepted. Once you enroll in the program, a card with your name on it will automatically be sent to your mailing address.
4. Want all of your pay in cash? You can do that. When you are mailed your paycard, you will receive two checks, which allow you to write yourself a check for the full amount in your account and cash it at a U.S. Bank branch. Full instructions on how to use these checks will be included in your paycard packet.
5. Each pay period, your newly deposited funds will be available starting at 7 a.m.

Mountain Time on payday.

Benefits of paycards

In many ways, paycards provide increased security and services compared to paper checks:

Free bank and ATM use?You will have access to hundreds of banks and ATMs within a short distance of each CU campus, and you won't be charged additional fees. To find an Allpoint Network ATM visit allpointnetwork.com or brinksmoney.com.

Get your money faster?You'll be able to use your card to withdraw or transfer the newly deposited funds starting at 7 a.m. MDT on payday.

Free replacement of lost cards?If you lose your card, call Brinks customer service for a free replacement. You'll be eligible to receive one free replacement card each year.

Online money management?Access everything from your balance to your account history via Brinks' online account center.

Free checks from Skylight Financial, the processing side of Brinks?Order and receive free checks for your personal use.

Ask for cash back at stores?When making a PIN-based purchase at participating stores, including grocery stores, discount outlets and convenience stores, simply ask the cashier for cash back or use the PIN pad to indicate you'd like cash back.

Take your card with you?If you leave your position at CU, you can use your paycard to set up direct deposits with your new employer.

If you received a paycard but have since decided it's not for you, follow these steps to enroll in direct deposit and properly deactivate your card.

Timing is key

While you get paid at the end of each month, CU's payroll team begins processing pay weeks in advance. This means that if you want your next pay to be directly deposited into a new bank account, you must enroll in direct deposit before CU starts collecting your time and processing your pay.

To enroll in direct deposit, log in to the employee portal [2], and select the "Direct Deposit" button within the "Payroll and Compensation" dropdown menu on the left. (You'll be prompted to verify your identity via our security feature, which ensures your direct deposit bank account information is safe.)

When to enroll in direct deposit to ensure it's effective the next pay period

- Biweekly-paid employees: Enroll at least one week before your scheduled pay date.
- Monthly-paid employees: Enroll at least two weeks before your scheduled pay date.

If you miss these deadlines, don't worry; you should only have to wait one more pay cycle for your direct deposit elections to become effective. BUT: Don't deactivate your card just yet.

When and how to deactivate your paycard

Only deactivate your paycard AFTER you have been successfully paid via direct deposit. This ensures the system is working properly and you're receiving pay.

Once you've confirmed direct deposit is working, call the number on the back of your paycard to deactivate it. Note: If you fail to deactivate your card within 90 days of opting out of using it, you will start incurring a monthly inactivity fee.
