University of Colorado Faculty Assemblies ^[1]

Colorado Springs

All faculty members are part of the Faculty Assembly. The Faculty Assembly as a whole usually meets 1-2 times per academic year. A representative group known as the Representative Assembly meets monthly during the academic year. The Representative Assembly consists of the elected officers of the Faculty Assembly, elected Faculty Council representatives, elected representatives from each of the colleges and the library, the chairs of all standing committees, and at-large members elected by the Faculty. Anschutz Medical Campus Faculty Assembly

The AMC Faculty Assembly consists of elected representatives from each of the campus Schools / Colleges and the Health Science Library, and the Chairs of the faculty governing organizations in each of the schools / colleges. The Officers of the AMC Faculty Assembly are elected from the membership. The Chair is a member of the Chancellor's Executive Committee. The Chair also serves as the primary campus representative to the CU Faculty Council. The Assembly meets monthly and welcomes all UCD Faculty members to attend the meetings. [button url="

Downtown Campus Faculty Assembly

The Faculty Assembly (FA) is the official voice of the University of Colorado Denver Faculty in shared governance on our campus, at our University and at the CU-system level.

The Faculty Assembly and its committees are elected by their schools and colleges on campus to represent the interests of the faculty and to work with administration of the campus. Whether you are a member of FA or not, please become familiar with the UCD Faculty Constitution and Bylaws, located under Policies & Governance Documents. They provide guidance for formal faculty governance and norms for academic governance generally. As full participants in critical decisions about change and continuity in the campus's future, faculty have the obligation to be knowledgeable about their rights and responsibilities.
