

Fraud and Fiscal Misconduct Awareness and Reporting

Report Fraud, Theft, Embezzlement, Abuse or Waste of University Resources

Fiscal misconduct involves intentional acts or failures to act in order to obtain unauthorized or unlawful gain. The primary factor that distinguishes fiscal misconduct from error is the intent of the person taking the underlying action.

If you are an employee of the University of Colorado, you are obligated by university policy to promptly report fiscal misconduct and fraudulent acts, as well as incidents of suspected misconduct. For more information see Board Policy 13-E Fiscal Misconduct and the University's Administrative Policy Statement Reporting Fiscal Misconduct.

Situations can occur that raise questions as to what is appropriate. These can be addressed by reading applicable policies or by contacting the correct campus or system administration office. A resource page has been developed to assist you with locating university policies and provide you with the appropriate contacts for topics related to academics, data privacy, financial matters, health and environmental safety, human resources, public safety and research. Click here and then click on your specific campus. Scroll through the subjects listed on the left side of the page, and click on the arrow next to the topic related to your question or concern.

Options for Reporting Fiscal Misconduct and Other Matters

- CU EthicsLine is a way to anonymously report concerns involving fiscal misconduct by university employees, violations of state or federal law, serious or recurring violations of university policy, or gross waste of university funds or property. The CU EthicsLine is accessible via a toll-free phone number (1-800-677-5590) or a Web-based reporting system (www.Ethicspoint.com ^[1]). This service is provided by EthicsPoint, an independent company that provides similar services for hundreds of companies and universities. The service provides a communication option available seven days a week, 24 hours a day.
