Common Earnings Codes and Their Paygroups

This document highlights the most commonly used earnings codes and their paygroups. As part of the 9.2 upgrade, the CU Paygroups have been revised to enhance payroll processing by taking advantage of defaults and controls provided by paygroups. Most notably, you will see the following changes:

- There are now 19 paygroups within two pay frequencies: Biweekly and Monthly.
- Biweekly paygroups are hourly and are primarily designated for student and temporary employees.
- Monthly paygroups have been expanded (now includes Faculty and USX University Staff Exempt).
- Earnings programs are tied to paygroups and define the earnings codes that should be used.

Note: You can use the query named Employee Paygroup Search to identify earnings codes or paygroups. To access the query from your HCM WorkCenter, click Resources and then click the query title (listed under Query Manager).

Regular Employees (Non-Retirees)

- BW is no longer a valid paygroup; 41XX jobcode student workers are now STU paygroup, STH earnings code.
- Most temporary staff that are paid biweekly are in the TMP paygroup.
- The paygroup MON is valid for faculty contracts only.
- The earnings code RGN is new and should be used for professional staff who are not leave eligible.
