

Nonie Wainwright accepts position at CU Denver Business School ^[1]

August 19, 2016 by Kim Egan ^[2]

Nonie Wainwright, the CU Denver/Anschutz campus eComm specialist, will be leaving CU Denver University Communications on Aug. 26. She accepted a position with the CU Denver Business School's Global Energy Management \(GEM\) program ^[3].

Nonie expanded the eComm program on the Denver and Anschutz campuses from a dozen users to more than 80 in just under two years. She provided incredible customer service and engendered respect and trust among her broad user base. In addition to providing exceptional tier 1 support, she trained communicators on three highly robust and sophisticated applications. Her strategic thinking and eagerness to always learn has enabled her to become a highly skilled super user. In fact, Nonie received her Cvent certification in July 2016.

The entire eComm team is sad to see her go, but we know she will do incredible things for the GEM program.

If you would like to work in a fast-paced, groundbreaking and highly collaborative systemwide initiative, then this position is for you! You will gain hands-on experience with cutting edge technology (Salesforce, Marketing Cloud, Cvent and others) while helping users adopt and effectively use these applications across a two-campus community.
