Congressman Polis Participates in Calls on HEA Reauthorization

In December, CU leadership including CU Boulder Chancellor Philip DiStefano, CU Boulder Provost Russell Moore, UCCS Chancellor Venkat Reddy, CU Denver Provost Roderick Nairn, and CU Denver Dean of the School of Education and Human Development Rebecca Kantor participated in a call with Congressman Jared Polis to discuss proposed changes to the Higher Education Act The Promoting Real Opportunity, Success, and Prosperity through Education Reform (PROSPER) Act (H.R. 4508 [3]).

Additionally, Congressman Polis held a 30 minute Student Tele-Town Hall on December 6, with students to provide an overview of the proposed changes to HEA and how these changes would impact students.

PhD Alum Madalyn Kern on the Hill

Madalyn Kern, a Ph.D. alum from CU Boulder, attended several visits with congressional offices in Washington, DC. She spoke with staff from the offices of Senator Cory Gardner and Michael Bennet, as well as Congressmen Mike Coffman and Doug Lamborn. She also met with Senate Commerce Committee Majority and Minority Staff, as well as Congressmen Ed Perlmutter and Jared Polis. The visits coincided with Madalyn's participation in the inaugural University Innovation and Entrepreneurship Showcase [4] co-hosted by AAU and APLU, on November 13 and 14. Her startup, ReForm, Inc [5]., is focused on developing a new prosthetic socket device which is more adaptable and accessible to amputees in the U.S. and in the world's developing nations.

Rocky Mountain Data Center Grand Opening

The Rocky Mountain Research Data Center Institute of Behavioral Science [6] at CU Boulder held its Grand Opening celebration on September 28. CU Boulder Vice Chancellor for Research and Innovation Terri Fiez and Director of CU Boulder's Institute of Behavioral Science (IBS) Myron Gutmann hosted the event. The RMRDC is a Federal Statistical Data Center housed at IBS and represents a consortium of institutional partners including all four CU campuses, plus Colorado State University, University of Wyoming, University of Denver, Colorado School of Mines, the Colorado State Government, and others. It is a secure research site where researchers conduct statistical analyses on nonpublic data collected by the U.S. Census Bureau and other statistical agencies. Staff from the Office of Senator Bennet attended the ribbon cutting ceremony. Learn more about the RMRDC here [7].

Athletic Directors on the Hill

On September 26, CU Athletic Director Rick George and Colorado State University Athletic Director Joe Parker met with Senators Bennet and Gardner as well as Congressmen Polis and Perlmutter. The purpose of the meetings was to provide updates on their respective athletic departments.

SVC Kelly Fox Participates in Congressional Briefing Panel

On September 26, CU Boulder Senior Vice Chancellor and Chief Financial Officer Kelly Fox met with Congressman Polis to discuss student debt and CU Boulder's tuition guarantee. While in D.C., Fox also participated in a congressional briefing panel held by the National Association of College and University Business Officers (NACUBO).

Chan Joins Panel on North Korea with Congressman Polis

CU Boulder Political Science Professor, Steve Chan, participated in a digital roundtable on Facebook hosted by Congressman Jared Polis. A recorded version of the October 25 conversation is available here [8].

NSO Testimony to House Science Subcommittees

On September 28, Dr. Claire Rafferty, Head of Education and Outreach at the National Solar Observatory (NSO), along with senior scientist Matt Penn, testified at a congressional hearing on the solar eclipse. Penn is the Principal Investigator for the Citizen CATE project, which collected images of the August 21 total solar eclipse from citizen scientists across the U.S. Watch the hearing here [9].

MD5 National Security Technology Accelerator Launch

Leaders from Colorado's security, technology, veteran, and academic communities gathered at the Idea Forge Commons [10] on September 29 to participate in a conversation about the future of defense innovation in Colorado. Staff from the offices of Senator Gardner and Representatives Polis, Perlmutter, and Coffman attended the event.

ECHO Colorado Director Visits Washington, D.C.

Dr. John “Fred” Thomas visited the Hill to discuss ECHO Colorado and the ECHO Act. Dr. Thomas is the executive director of the Extension for Community Health Outcomes (ECHO) [11] , a unique platform for health professionals to share knowledge and experience using technology. Dr. Thomas met with staff from the offices of Colorado Senators Michael Bennet and Cory Gardner, as well as Representatives Mike Coffman, Doug Lamborn, Ken Buck, Diana DeGette, Jared Polis, and Scott Tipton. He also met with staff for Senator Orrin Hatch (R-Utah), the sponsor for S.2873 [12], ECHO Act. This legislation requires studies and reports on using technology-enabled collaborative learning and capacity building models to improve programs of the Department of Health and Human Services. Finally, Dr. Thomas met with the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services.

UCCS Co-Sponsors 2017 National Cyber Symposium

The 2017 National Cyber Symposium [13], sponsored by the National Cybersecurity Center [14] in partnership with UCCS and Exponential Impact [15], a Colorado Springs tech accelerator company, was held at the Broadmoor in Colorado Springs. The symposium had several prominent speakers from the world of cyber security. The kickoff evening featured Governor John Hickenlooper and retired General David Petraeus, former director of the Central Intelligence Agency.

UCCS Chancellor Venkat Reddy outlined an agreement with Cisco to assist in designing a strategic plan for a Cybersecurity Workforce Development Center in conjunction with the National Cybersecurity Center. Cisco representatives will work with UCCS faculty to develop capabilities for the development of curriculum and training of people to work in cybersecurity, joint research opportunities and student internships. Read more about the plan in the UCCS Communique [16].
