New Report Developer Q&A [1]

April 13, 2020 by Elizabeth Snow-Trenkle [2]

Hello, All!

In light of the switch to remote working, we changed the delivery of our last New Report Developer Training based on feedback from our users. We heard our users asking for a way to complete this training remotely and without long time obligations, so instead of meeting in person or conducting training through a full day online session, we electronically delivered a training manual to each trainee to complete on their own at their convenience.

If you would like to register for the New Developer Training in this format (self-paced) as well, we have re-opened registration for CU-Data Developer Training in Skillsoft.

Since this is a departure from our typical training delivery, we want to make sure that we still support our CU-Data (Cognos) trainings and users. To that end, we have scheduled a Q&A session on Thursday, April 23rd from 12p-1p. Please feel free to bring questions about New Report Developer training or any information covered in those materials.

Thank you!
