Published on University of Colorado (https://www.cu.edu)

How to communicate professionally with your peers [1]

February 6, 2023 by Employee and Information Services [2]

Communicating professionally with a variety of people is a crucial skill that can prepare students to succeed in the classroom, among friends and during crucial interviews for internships and jobs.

The course "Interpersonal Communication [3]" by Dorie Clark will teach you all about professional communication. The presenter focuses on professional applications, however, these techniques translate into group projects and internships that, as a student, you can begin putting into action now.

In the span of 37 minutes, you will learn how to communicate effectively, take critical feedback, and how to improve your communication skills if effective communication isn't easy for you. In addition to verbal communication skills, this course will also teach you how to communicate effectively and professionally through emails, texts and other messages sent electronically, a very important skill in today's digital age.

Watch Now [3]

early college career [4], communication [5]
Display Title:
How to communicate professionally with your peers
Send email when Published:
No

Source URL:https://www.cu.edu/blog/level-up/how-communicate-professionally-your-peers

Links
[1] https://www.cu.edu/blog/level-up/how-communicate-professionally-your-peers [2] https://www.cu.edu/blog/level-up/author/76185 [3] https://www.linkedin.com/learning/interpersonal-communication/interpersonal-communication?u=42275329 [4] https://www.cu.edu/blog/level-up/tag/early-college-career [5] https://www.cu.edu/blog/level-up/tag/communication