Are you nervous about diving into online education? Want to expand your reach beyond your current online course or program? Then join me for a 20 minute interview on online education and advocacy with Dr. Amos Bailey ^[4].

Dr. Bailey, a palliative care physician and Director of the Master of Science in Palliative Care and Interprofessional Palliative Care Certificate programs at the University of Colorado Anschutz Medical Campus, has spearheaded a successful online degree program without previous online teaching experience. The secret? Teamwork, trust, and maybe a little bit of magic!
