February 16, 2017 by normandy.rodén ^[2]

Here's a convenient way for you to learn and earn this month.

Learn something new ... and earn continuing professional education (CPE) credit, if you hold a CPA license or other certification.

The Office of University Controller is offering two live webinars through our CPE Program in February. You can participate without leaving your own office!

- More than Numbers: CU's Annual Financial Report and Illustrated Guide - Tuesday, February 21, 2017 (9:30-10:20 a.m.)

This CPE webinar focuses on CU's award-winning Annual Report. How is it built? What does it tell us? How can you apply similar approaches to your own work?

- Slack/Trello: A Collaborative Dream Team - Wednesday, February 22, 2017 (11:00-11:50 a.m.)

This CPE webinar explores ways to increase individual and team productivity using two tools: Slack and Trello. Slack is a modern communication platform that helps you reduce email. Trello is a simple, customizable tool that helps you manage projects and tasks. Together, they provide a powerful means of working organized and stress-free.

For detailed course and instructor information and to register, go to the Office of University Controller website ^[3]. We look forward to "seeing" you at our webinars!

Remember: CPE courses are available at no cost to CU employees and at modest cost to non-employees.
