CU Shared Practices (CUSP) is Ready to Recognize YOU [1]

February 15, 2013 by normandy.roden [2]

Bring your ideas and innovations to the CUSP (CU Shared Practices) Program, where cash awards await creative thinkers. If you've developed a new work process or tool (or suggested an improvement to an existing process or tool), we encourage you to share it. Your colleagues may find that your idea works beautifully in their own departments … and you could be eligible to win one of five annual cash awards ($1,000 and up). CUSP is accepting idea submissions for FY 2013 through April 30. The CUSP website is a great resource for learning about tools developed to assist sponsored project administration, processes designed to help manage departmental expenses, and technologies used to facilitate communications and other University business. Check it out at www.cu.edu/controller/initiatives/cusp/ [3].
