Former OUC Intern enjoys commodity trading competition [1]

February 18, 2013 by normandy.roden [2]

We just heard from our former intern, Kirill Buzinov – a student at the CU Denver School of Business and currently interning in the Office of the University Treasurer. Kirill shared his recent 9News interview on UCD students' simulated trading in gold, crude oil, and corn. The team is hoping to compete in international championships next month. We wish the best of luck to him and his team. For more, see: www.9news.com/news/local/article/316376/346/A-championship-for-student-traders [3]
