Release Your Excellent Ideas! [1]

March 14, 2014 by normandy.roden [2]

Don’t keep your business innovations bottled up. Turn them into cash prizes through CU Shared Practices (CUSP), the OUC's employee recognition program. That's what David Nicoll and Joshua Firestone did, in the College of Arts & Sciences at Boulder. They saw a way to enhance training on the MyLeave time-collection solution through development of brief online instructional videos. Their demos provide better service with less required staff time. And they won a cash prize for their innovative approach to business. If your ideas have benefited your individual work areas, imagine what they could do for the University as a whole! Learn about the CUSP Program ... learn about the cash prizes. Submit a CUSP entry for yourself ... or submit a CUSP entry nominating someone else. You can do it all at https://content.cu.edu/controller/initiatives/cusp/ [3].
