New Master Contracts in the Scientific, Research, Medical Commodity Space [1]

December 15, 2025 by Staff [2]

The CU Procurement Service Center is excited to announce several new master services agreements. These agreements amplify partnership, create streamlined opportunities, and empower CU campuses to access their products and services with ease and efficiency. These include GE Healthcare, McKesson, Roche Diagnostics Corporation, Illumina, and more.

Note: these contracts are applicable for purchases under the university's bid threshold of $250,000.

What This Means for You:

1. So long as the purchase remains under the university's bid threshold, departments across all CU campuses can now procure with the above-mentioned agreements under a pre-negotiated agreement.
2. For a complete list of available Master Service Agreements, please reach out to any purchasing agent or your strategic sourcing specialist to provide the list. Note that the PSC is currently working to update the contracts page to provide a comprehensive list of all MSAs.

Security and Compliance review is not required for purchases against these agreements since approved IT security and ADA language has been added to each agreement
