Google Chrome has intuitive hotkeys to save you time when you mistakenly close a tab or need to refresh your tab. Here is a few that can be helpful in a pinch:

Windows:

- To open the most recently closed tab, press Ctrl + Shift + T. This will restore the tab.
- Pressing Ctrl + R will refresh the current page, and Esc will stop the page from loading.
- The Home button will automatically take you to the top of the page, and the End button will take you to the bottom.
- Using Ctrl + Left Click will open a URL in a new window.

Mac:

- Opening the most recently closed tab is done by pressing Shift + Command + T.
- Pressing Shift + Command + R will refresh the current page, and Esc will stop the reload.
- Combining Command and +/- will make everything on the page larger and smaller.
- Command + left click will open a URL in a new window.
