At CU, we are committed to employee enrichment and learning, whether it's through a class on campus or online. That's why CU offers access for all employees to Lynda.com* at no cost.

Lynda.com is an online learning management system designed to educate users with relevant information about virtually any topic. This online resource boasts a library containing over 13,000 courses. Subscribers have access to every single course, covering topics like Managing Your Career as an Introvert, Ethical Hacking and Ableton Live: Producing Electronic Music. Lynda.com releases new content every week ranging from short videos to comprehensive instructor-led training.

What are CU employees learning right now?

Spanning all campuses, the most hours were spent completing HTML Essential Training (closely followed by Programming Fundamentals and Illustrator Essential Training). See which courses were popular on each CU campus:
