March 23, 2018 by Employee Services [2]

The State of Colorado recently announced a transition from a monthly pay schedule to a biweekly pay schedule [3]. This change will not affect University of Colorado employees.

The university continue following its current biweekly and monthly pay schedules. Review the 2018 [4]pay day [4] schedule here [4].

“CU’s classified employees recently received an email from the state about these changes, but it will not affect them,” said Sharon Bishop, Director of Payroll in Employee Services.

Employees with questions regarding their pay can visit the Employee Services payroll website [5] or contact a payroll professional at 303-860-4200, option 2. We’re here to help.
