Whether you'll be returning to your pre-pandemic way of working or not, the world of work is going to look and feel a lot different going forward. Employee Services compiled a collection of LinkedIn Learning courses focused on remote and hybrid work skills. Topics include time management, team communication, managing technology, productivity, and more.

Some video highlights include:

- What does hybrid mean? [4]
- Update your productivity style [5]
- Communicating virtually within teams [6]
- Dealing with disruption within the office [7]
- Staying organized when change is constant [8]

Keep track of the new courses section of the LinkedIn blog which curates new course offerings each week.
