Vendors will have the opportunity to meet in-person with higher education faculty and staff from across Colorado at the 25th annual COLTT conference!

We encourage all vendors to consider teaming up with member(s) of a higher ed institution represented at COLTT to approach the creation of the session as a demonstration of thought leadership.

This can take various forms: co-authoring a white paper or blog posts, building case studies, generating data sets through surveys, capturing video, regarding the session as a beta testing ground, and building a new or to strengthen an existing relationship with the institutional co-lead and their unit. This can offer a valuable return given the innovative nature of COLTT and the readiness of our cohort to engage with vendors in meaningful and constructive ways.

Dig into a specific aspect of tool use, invite attendees into a testing or feedback format on development, or might not even feature the product and instead explore themes and gathering information around key topics.
