

CU Innovation & Efficiency Awards: Eligibility ^[1]

What can be submitted?

Submissions must be fully implemented innovations, tools, strategies, or process improvements that support the performance of any University organizational unit. The implementation has resulted in efficiencies (including savings of time or money), improved customer service, or otherwise enhanced operations.

Who is eligible to win an award?

Active employees of the University. Employees may submit as individuals or as members of an identified team. In the case of group submissions, group members will share in any cash prize that may be awarded.
