Tax Information [1]

Tax-Exempt Status

- The University of Colorado is generally exempt by law from all federal excise taxes and from all Colorado State and local government sales and use taxes. Under certain situations, the tax-exempt status does not apply.

Unrelated Business Income Tax (UBIT)

- Even though an organization is recognized as tax exempt, it still may be liable for tax on its unrelated business income. For most organizations, unrelated business income is income from a trade or business, regularly carried on, that is not substantially related to the charitable, educational, or other purpose that is the basis of the organization's exemption.

Other Tax Issues

- BEX - Employees who do not meet the conditions of Finance Procedural Statement: Business Expense Reimbursement [4] will have taxable income reported to the Internal Revenue Service (IRS). This will appear on the employee's pay advice, and on IRS Form W-2, as BEX (Business Expense).
- Moving Expenses - Employee moving service benefits incur a tax liability to the employee and moving expense reimbursements/moving allowances paid to the employee are taxable. Learn more at Moving Expenses [5].
- Remote Employee Travel/Expenses - Federal guidance requires employees be taxed on travel and other expense payments/reimbursements when the expenses are considered personal in nature – such as expenses for normal commuting between the employee's primary work location and their home or personal residence. University of Colorado guidance on this issue is currently under development.

Individual withholding: Every individual tax withholding situation is different. There are free tools on the IRS website that can help you determine your personal tax position, including the withholding estimator available online at https://www.irs.gov/individuals/irs-withholding-calculator [6].
Tax-Exempt Information

When we're exempt from sales and use and other taxes ... and when we are not.

Unrelated Business Income Tax (UBIT)

How we report UBIT activities. All activities must be reported separately, which impacts when we need to pay tax on those activities.

Moving Expenses

How we process moving expense reimbursements and payments to moving companies. These payments are taxable.
