Move yourself—and others—forward.

We believe developing strong leaders cultivates a strong workforce. That's why we've created programs and toolkits that provide CU leaders with opportunities to enhance and expand their skill sets.

The University of Colorado offers the Excellence in Leadership as well as corresponding management toolkits. Each program provides CU leaders and managers with opportunities to enhance and expand skillsets.

As a program participant, you'll meet colleagues across the CU system and delve into real-world challenges at leadership workshops. Plus, you'll have access to management tools long after you've completed the program.
