CU System office entry procedures

[1]

Follow these steps when you plan to come to a CU System Administration office.

- Employees can enter the office for critical, approved business tasks. For example, some employees have been approved to come into the office briefly to pick up mail, print notices and billing statements, and other administrative tasks.
- Employees may meet with the UIS Service Desk for appointments at 1800 Grant, or they may quickly visit offices to pick up needed items (paperwork, folders, your chair, etc.) These one-time visits should be brief.
- If you are in a high-risk population [2], you should not visit the office.

Step 1: Complete a required Skillsoft course

All employees must complete the Skillsoft course, COVID-19 Return to Office, to better understand social distancing guidelines and health procedures. Every employee must take this course before coming to your office location or by July 17, whichever is first.

To access the course:

1. Log in to the CU System Office portal [3].
2. From the portal homepage, click the Skillsoft tile.
3. From the Skillsoft homepage, click Learning Plan. The Assigned Learning page appears.
4. Find the course CU: COVID-19 Return to Office-System, click LAUNCH.

Note: When taking courses in Skillsoft, be sure to turn off pop-up blockers.

Step 2: Complete the on-site request form

If you need to be deemed critical and cleared for work in the office, your supervisor must fill out and submit an on-site work request form [4] for approval by CU System HR.

Note: If you are coming to an office location for a one-time task or appointment, this form is not required.

Step 3: Steps before you arrive

On the days when you will be at the office, you must complete an online health assessment with questions on your general health.

You may access the assessment via website link [5] or by using the QR code on the right. After completing the assessment, you will be sent a confirmation email to the email address you
Step 4: Follow office protocol outlined on the COVID-19 page

Stay safe when you're in the office by following protocols outlined on CU’s COVID-19 page.
