August 15, 2014

Save the date and join us on your campus:

CU Anschutz: Monday, Oct. 20

UCCS: Tuesday, Oct. 21

CU Denver, Wednesday, Oct. 22

CU System, Thursday, Oct. 23

CU-Boulder, Monday, Oct. 27

At the Employee Services Fall Expos, you can learn something new about financial topics that directly affect you and your future?like your retirement plan, your credit score, your student loans and more. These events are coming to each CU campus this fall with the aim of making complicated subjects easier to understand and giving you information to act.

To sweeten the deal, we're giving attendees at each campus event the chance to win an iPad just for completing a few "shopping list" tasks at one or more of the following expo areas:

Dollars & Sense Market

Visit the booths at the market to check off items on your shopping list and earn prize entries.

Shopping around, you can ask experts questions and use the information you gain to take steps toward securing your financial future. You can schedule a 1-on-1 financial consultation with a professional or put the guidance you receive into practice. At the ATM: Advisors Talk Money booth, you can ask Employee Services counselors questions about benefits, retirement, pay, taxes and more.

Plus, we'll follow up with you in the months after the event to see how you're doing and show you ways we can help you achieve your goals.

Money Talks

Ever wondered how your retirement plan works? How to pay off your students loans faster? How to increase your credit score? Money Talks can teach you about these topics and guide you to take the next steps.

Preparing to Retire

Employee Services' popular talks designed to guide employees 1-5 years away from retirement also will be part of the fall expos.

Look for more details and registration information for the Employee Services Fall Expo in next month's Work/Life employee newsletter. Can't wait? Visit the Employee Services Expo page [2] for the latest updates.
