Faculty Handbook

This University of Colorado Faculty Handbook has been prepared for the convenience and information of the faculty members of the University of Colorado four-campus system. This handbook brings together those University laws, policies, procedures and other information items that apply, or might be of interest, to faculty members.

Professional Rights and Duties of Faculty Members and Professional Duties of Department Chairs

The University seeks to provide and sustain an environment conducive to sharing, extending, and critically examining knowledge and values, and to furthering the search for truth as the faculty member sees it. Effective performance of this academic mission requires that University faculty members be free within their respective fields of competence to pursue and teach the truth in accord with applicable standards of scholarly inquiry.

The faculty's privileges and protections, including that of tenure, rest on the mutually supportive relationships between the faculty's special professional competence and its academic freedom, and the academic mission of the University. These relationships are also the source of the professional responsibilities of faculty members.

It is the intent of this professional standards document to protect academic freedom, to help preserve the highest standards of teaching and scholarship, and to advance the mission of the University as an institution of higher learning.

Privilege & Tenure Committee

The P&T Committee, through its panel structure, conducts investigations and mediations of, and hearings on, grievances concerning faculty rights, privileges, and tenure, including reappointments with or without tenure, promotions, post-tenure review and suspensions, that are submitted by members of the Faculty Senate. ## University of Colorado Faculty Assemblies

UCCS

All UCCS faculty members are part of the UCCS Faculty Assembly. The Faculty Assembly as a whole usually meets one to two times per academic year. A representative group known as the Representative Assembly meets monthly during the academic year. The Representative Assembly consists of the elected officers of the Faculty Assembly, elected Faculty Council representatives, elected representatives from each of the colleges and the library, the chairs of all standing committees, and at-large members elected by the Faculty. ### CU Anschutz Medical Campus

The CU Anschutz Faculty Assembly consists of elected representatives from each of the campus schools/colleges, the Health Science Library, and the chairs of the faculty governing organizations in each school/college. Officers are elected from the faculty assembly membership. The Chair is a member of the Chancellor's Executive Committee, and also serves as the primary campus representative to the CU Faculty Council. The Assembly meets monthly and welcomes all CU Denver faculty members to attend the meetings. ### CU Denver

The CU Denver Faculty Assembly is the official voice of CU Denver Faculty in shared governance at the campus, university and system level. The faculty assembly and its committees are elected by their schools and colleges on campus to represent the interests of the faculty and to work with administration of the campus. Whether you are a member of the assembly or not, please become familiar with the CU Denver Faculty Constitution and Bylaws. They provide guidance for formal faculty governance and norms for academic governance. As full participants in critical decisions about change and continuity in the campus's future, faculty have the obligation to be knowledgeable about their rights and responsibilities.
