Center for Research Data and Digital

Scholarship

All faculty may register for training and workshops at this research center, located at the CU Boulder library. Learn more.

In addition, public interdisciplinary consulting hours (currently on Tuesdays from 12-2pm) are open to faculty from all campuses. Just be aware, only current CU Boulder faculty may make appointments for more detailed project consultation and support.

Lab Facilities

Most computer, design, and prototyping lab facilities are managed at the college or department level. Learn more.

Since they are at the college or department level, you should direct questions to your chair or program assistant.

CU Anschutz
Inworks Innovation Initiative [4] is a human-centered design and prototyping facility with locations on the CU Denver and Anschutz Medical campuses. Students, faculty, and members of the public can all access Inwork's facilities and schedule consultations for free or participate in equipment training workshops for a nominal fee.
