Published on University of Colorado (https://www.cu.edu)

HCM Community e-newsletter [1]

If you've been granted any level of access to Human Capital Management (HCM), CU's powerful human resources tool, you're among the more than 2,400 CU employees who comprise the HCM Community. With your combined knowledge of how CU operates and the important tasks you complete to recruit, hire, pay and manage employees, it's crucial that you have the most up-to-date information about how to work within HCM.

That's why you receive the monthly HCM Community e-newsletter. This communication is a collection of key news and updates from the HCM Community blog [2], all of which are relevant to helping you do your job in and outside of HCM. While not every item within these communications may apply to your specific role, you receive these important updates precisely because you have access to the system and likely work in tandem with others with different HCM roles.

Don't think you should be receiving these communications? Please speak with your supervisor to determine whether you should have HCM access.

Groups audience:
HCM Community

Source URL:https://www.cu.edu/hcm-community/hcm-community-e-newsletter

Links
[1] https://www.cu.edu/hcm-community/hcm-community-e-newsletter [2] https://www.cu.edu/blog/hcm-community