Please contact your campus international travel resources for further guidance.

Responsibility/Accountability

Procurement Service Center Travel Office

Travel expenses paid by the university must be incurred for official university business and must comply with the PSC Procedural Statement: Travel [9] as well as with any other applicable rules and regulations. For more information on the travel process and approval, please visit PSC Travel website [2]. Included in the international travel approval process is an additional pre-approval which is required by each campus for identified high-risk countries. For detailed information, see PSC International Travel for Employees [10].

Campus, Departments and Units

The university and its campuses have various policies and procedures addressing international travel.

Each campus has an office with responsibility for coordination of academic travel and international education, which is an excellent resource for specific international travel questions and safety concerns. They provide international travel orientation and other health and safety information for both students and faculty. Faculty planning to lead trips abroad can contact these offices for support and guidance. You may want to review your campus website for more information or for contact information go to Campus tab.

International Risk Management Committees

Campus International Risk Management Committees assess the university’s international risk, recommend policies to enhance university international risk management and risk mitigation, develop international risk management services and protocols, and provide oversight and review of international risk. They develop and maintain the campus international crisis response plans and assist departments with emergency response and business continuity plans for international emergencies.

Campus committees may consist of representatives from global education, international affairs offices and University Risk Management. Representatives from various colleges and disciplines including communications, student affairs, legal, faculty, finance, public safety and others may be invited to participate as needed.

Regulatory Compliance / Export Control

The University of Colorado is a public research university with multiple campuses serving Colorado. As the university fulfills its mission of education, research, and disseminating knowledge, it will also fulfill its responsibility to comply with all U.S. export control laws and regulations.

Export control laws may include working with foreign national collaborators, institutions, or students, government sanctioned nations and individuals, animal and human subject research and technology transfer issues.

Each international traveler is encouraged to contact their campus regulatory compliance or export control office for guidance early in the travel planning process, as these measures may take time to implement.

For contact information go to Campus Contacts tab.

University Employees and Authorized Volunteers

Faculty, staff, student employees and authorized volunteers of the university are expected to comply with university policies, rules and regulations when planning for and traveling abroad on official university business.

Faculty planning to lead trips abroad can contact campus international education abroad offices for information. You may want to review your campus website for more information or for contact information go to the Campus Contacts tab.

Students and Participants

In the interest of individual and group safety and overall positive learning experience, students who are traveling abroad as part of an education abroad, international education or other university-sponsored program should follow their campus-specific policies and educational programs that include orientation, health insurance information, travel advisory websites and return transition/debriefing.

Students and participants traveling as part of a university-sponsored program are responsible for knowing and complying with all university policies and codes of conduct.

University Risk Management

University Risk Management (URM) provides information regarding international travel insurance and travel assistance programs provided by the university. URM representatives serve on campus international risk management committees, assist travelers with questions regarding international travel and provide various resources for risk identification and mitigation.

Types of International Travel

Official University Programs
Any activity that carries out the university's mission of instruction, research and service or that provides support to the university's instruction, research, and service activities.

University-sponsored Programs

University-sponsored programs are programs organized, financed, operated, and/or maintained by the university with minimal or no third party (vendors, contractors, travel agencies, etc.) assistance. These programs follow all university and campus policies and work with campus offices and URM.

Third-Party Programs

The university or its campuses may outsource certain international programs by contracting with third parties. Travelers follow all university and campus international policies and the third-party requirements. Appropriate university contracting procedures must be followed.

 Elective Travel (non-sponsored)

This travel is not endorsed or under the auspices of the university. The university does not offer academic credit, coordinate travel or fund these activities. Travelers are encouraged to review general travel information that is available from campus international programs or URM regarding safety and health information.

International Insurance & Travel Assistance

University employees traveling abroad on university-sponsored international travel are eligible for coverage through an international insurance policy. This policy is now paired with 24/7 travel assistance services provided by International SOS [11] (ISOS). All you do is contact ISOS and they will work out the rest.

For Dependents and Other Travelers

CU faculty/staff family members on approved travel are encouraged to purchase coverage for dependents through GeoBlue. You must contact GeoBlue [12] or fill out the Dependent Form [8] and send directly to GeoBlue [12]. CU faculty, staff and students traveling on an education abroad program must coordinate their coverage by contacting their campus... international/global education abroad office managing the program.

For non-employees, the university strongly recommends purchasing international medical and evacuation insurance for your trip. Personal health insurance plans may not cover foreign medical treatment, co-payments, co-insurance, certain evacuation needs or out-of-network charges.

Who is International SOS?

As part of CU’s commitment to our travelers, we have invested in global medical and security assistance through International SOS, who will coordinate benefits with your international insurance policy. This program is designed to keep you healthy, safe and secure while you are traveling abroad. We strongly encourage you to take advantage of these services and online resources.

International SOS provides medical, security and logistical expertise to help safeguard our international travelers. For example, if you lose your medication in Prague, need to see a doctor in New Delhi, get pickpocketed in Rio or, in a more serious circumstance, are in a serious accident, you should immediately contact International SOS [11].

Travelers can conveniently dial one phone number that will connect them to the International SOS network of medical and professional service teams that operates 24 hours a day, 365 days a year, all over the world. International SOS will get in touch with us and GeoBlue as needed, depending upon the situation, and can even communicate with your family members.

Rest assured that no matter the problem, International SOS will give expert advice to take care of any medical or security need while you are abroad. You simply carry the International SOS membership card [7] with you at all times and download the International SOS Assistance app to use this complimentary service. Both contain your membership number and key phone numbers. Go to International SOS website [13] to set up your login prior to travel. University of Colorado Membership Number 11BCAS000006

When to use International SOS

Before you travel outside your home country, you should prepare yourself by logging onto the International SOS website [11] where you can sign up for health and security email alerts or review country-specific reports that will make you an informed traveler. Also, you should take a look at the information provided through the International SOS Assistance app. The travel guidance is accessible on the hosted website and/or is emailed to travelers booked through the university travel agency or who manually register their reservation directly under My Trips on the ISOS website.

While abroad, International SOS will help you locate a qualified health care provider, receive a prescription or simply answer any general medical or security concern you may have so you get quality medical care and advice.

In an emergency, International SOS can ensure that you get immediate care whether it requires evacuating you to a center of medical excellence or closely monitoring your condition with local doctors. Keep in mind that International SOS can also take care of all the details associated with your situation such as making travel arrangements for family members so you can focus on getting better.

How to contact International SOS

Call International SOS dedicated telephone number +1 215-942-8478 or download the International SOS Assistance app. The assistance center is available 24 hours a day, 7 days a week.

When does workers' compensation apply to international travel?

Workers’ compensation benefits apply to employees of the University that suffer a work related injuries and illnesses arising out of the course and scope of university employment. Workers’ compensation covers university employees including faculty, staff, paid student workers, residents, fellows, students in internships, clinical rotations or practicum. Workers’ compensation does not cover volunteers, family members, and other travelers that are not considered employees. Report claims to University Risk Management on the file a claim [18] page.

Why should I see a travel clinic before international travel?

International destinations might not have access to medical care similar to care in the U.S. The Centers for Disease Control (CDC) [20] and the university recommend visiting a travel medicine specialist or a doctor familiar with travel medicine to answer questions and make recommendations at least four to six weeks before your trip.

Travel clinics can provide information on health conditions, pre-existing conditions that might require management while you are abroad, and can prescribe prophylactic medications and vaccines where indicated.

Does the university provide auto insurance while I am traveling abroad?

The university program does not include country-specific compulsory auto insurance. You must purchase country-specific compulsory auto insurance including liability and physical damage if you rent a vehicle. If renting a vehicle is necessary, contact the Procurement Service Center [21] for further information.

- PSC phone number: 303-837-2161
Does the university insure my property while I am traveling abroad?

Only property that is owned/leased by the university is covered by the university's insurance program. A deductible may apply to theft losses of university owned/leased property. Review security measures that apply to your travel destination. Contact your personal homeowners/renters insurance company for questions regarding your personal property coverage while traveling abroad.

If traveling with university property, contact your campus Export Control office. For contact information go to the Campus Contacts tab.
