Central Information Warehouse (CIW) [1]

The Central Information Warehouse (CIW) [2] is CU's system-wide data repository for information sourced from administrative systems, such as Human Capital Management (HCM), Finance and Student Information System (CU-SIS).

As a repository for all CU data, users can access this one-stop source for federal and state reporting, even if the data has been deleted from the original administrative system.

This data repository is for individuals with privileged access, meaning you must receive prior approval for access.
