11 Last Reviewed/Updated: July 1, 2021

12 Applies to: Faculty and staff

13 Reason for Policy: The purpose of this Administrative Policy Statement is to establish the scope of the University of Colorado’s Educational Assistance Program and describe the taxability of educational assistance provided under this program. The university has a Section 127 Educational Assistance Plan established pursuant to Section 127 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986. This Internal Revenue Code provision currently allows employers to exclude educational assistance provided to employees from their wages, up to a federally mandated limit. Additionally, Section 117 of the Internal Revenue Code allows the university to exclude undergraduate-level tuition assistance for employees of the university and their dependents.

14 I. INTRODUCTION

15 The University of Colorado offers a Tuition Assistance Benefit (TAB) on a non-discriminatory basis to eligible university employees and their eligible dependents. TAB can only be provided in the form of a tuition benefit applied to the student tuition accounts. Employees or dependents cannot choose to receive cash in place of TAB. Employees and dependents are responsible for paying all other required campus-specific fees and other related educational costs.

16 II. POLICY STATEMENT

17 Tuition Assistance Benefit (TAB) is available to employees who meet the eligibility requirements as identified in subsection A of this policy statement.

- 18 • The academic year begins with the fall term and ends with the summer term (Fall-Summer).
- 19 • Enrollment in courses by the employee or dependent(s) is subject to campus-specific registration requirements.
- 20 • Eligible employees may use their TAB for a single dependent or split it between two or more dependents.
- 21 • The benefit cannot be split between an employee and employee’s dependent(s) in the same academic year (Fall-Summer).

- 44 • Prior to each academic year, the employee will designate between the employee and employee’s dependent(s) who 45 will be utilizing the benefit. The initial designation made by the employee will remain in effect and cannot be
 46 changed for the entire academic year (Fall-Summer).
 47
- 48 ○ Employee Note: Employees can apply the TAB to a different campus of enrollment at the beginning of a new
 49 semester; however, employees cannot be concurrently enrolled in two separate campuses during the same 50 semester.
- 51 ○ Dependent Note: The dependent option and campus, elected initially at the beginning of the academic year will 52 remain in effect for the entire academic year and is applicable to all dependents of an employee. Dependents
 53 must use the same Option A-Home Campus or Option B-Other Campus for the entirety of the academic year
 54 (Fall-Summer) – see section II.E.

55
 56 To qualify for the benefit either for the employee’s own use or for a dependent’s use, an employee, and where
 57 applicable, the employee’s dependent must satisfy the following criteria:

58
 59 A. Employee Eligibility

- 60 1. The employee must be in: a) a regular (non-temporary) position; b) a benefits-eligible job code; and c) an 61 appointment of 20 hours (50% FTE) or more per week. Review the “TAB” column for eligibility as 62 published in the Benefit Eligibility Matrix.
 63
- 65 2. If an employee has multiple regular (non-temporary) appointments that collectively equal 20 hours (50%
 66 FTE) or more in a benefits-eligible job code, they will be combined to determine eligibility.
 67
- 68 3. The employee must be in an active appointment and have an effective date (per NOTE below) for benefits at 69 the time of the published campus deadline, per the TAB website, for the semester in which the benefit is 70 being applied.
 71

72 NOTE: Effective date for benefits eligibility is the first of the month if the employee is hired on the first day
 73 of the month. If hired after the first day of the month, benefits eligibility begins the first day of the following
 74 month.
 75

- 76 4. Being on FMLA-documented leave or sabbatical does not preclude eligibility for the benefit.
 77

78 B. Dependent Eligibility

79
 80 Each campus has established specific rules governing operation of the dependent TAB, as specified in sections
 81 II.E. ~~1 and 2~~. The following requirements apply, however, to all eligible dependents seeking to use TAB.
 82

- 83 1. Dependent eligibility verification is required, for each individual dependent, as it is required for other
 84 employee benefits permitting dependent coverage.
 85
- 86 2. The following relationships are eligible for TAB although they are not, by IRS definition, eligible
 87 dependents. The monetary value of such tuition benefit will be subject to income taxation:
 88
 - 89 a. Domestic partner or civil union partner who are not legally married;
 - 90
 - 91 b. A dependent child of a domestic partner or civil union partner to whom you are not legally married; and
 - 92
 - 93 c. An employee’s dependent child who is not eligible to be claimed as a dependent on the employee’s
 94 Federal Form 1040 US Individual Income Tax Return.

Important Note: The employee will not be eligible for TAB for the current semester if registration requirements are not followed, as stated above.

2. The nine credits can be used in one semester or split among semesters during the same academic year, which begins with the fall semester.
3. Supervisor approval is not required to take a course. Supervisor approval for class attendance during normal work hours is required as for any absence reason, but does not require separate documentation.
4. The benefit may not be applied to any course offered by an auxiliary-funded program, such as Continuing Education, Extended Studies, the Executive MBA program, the One Year MBA program or CU Boulder's Part-Time, Evening MBA program or programs offered through Coursera.
5. The benefit may not be applied to study abroad or audited courses.
6. Each year a select number of Boulder campus and System employees are eligible to use their nine-credit tuition assistance benefits for an employee development opportunity available through the Boulder campus Department of Human Resources and the Lockheed Martin Engineering Management Program (EMP), Leadership and Management Graduate Certificate.
7. The amount of TAB you receive is considered financial assistance and may impact financial aid eligibility.
8. For undergraduate Colorado residents, each registering student must apply and authorize the College Opportunity Fund (COF). TAB only applies to the net tuition after COF. The students are responsible to pay the difference if COF is exhausted.
9. Only Nursing, Public Health and Graduate School courses (exceptions are listed on the Employee Services TAB website) on the Anschutz Medical Campus are eligible for the benefit.
